

SEPTEMBER ROAD RUN TO RAGLEY HALL

RAGLEY
HALL, PARK & GARDENS

SUNDAY 6TH SEPTEMBER 2009

Traditionally starting from the steam railway centre at Toddington, and following an interesting 60 mile route through the Cotswolds and surrounding countryside, using little used byways, this years late summer event visits the magnificent Ragley Hall.

Set in 400 acres of parkland sits this beautiful Palladian Hall, where you can enjoy the splendid collection of paintings and porcelain in the opulent rooms dressed with original furniture. Or you can spent time discovering the 10 hectares of gardens, including the newly opened contemporary rose garden. Alternatively you could set out on one of the woodland walks, or follow the sculpture trail, or simply enjoy a cream tea in the lakeside tearoom. In other words participants can expect this years destination, as always, to be pretty special.

Entry fee: £17.50 (Includes free entry into Ragley Hall, gardens, and grounds for two, route instructions, and rally plaque).
