

These steam powered engines pumped water for the Kennet and Avon canal and are the oldest working steam pumps in the World. Our visit coincided with a day when the engines were in "in steam".

Morris men at Crofton.