

Another RV8 “badge”

Ian Cranston spotted RV8NOTE342 and sent in a photo of his RV8 badges saying “I have just come across the RV8 Workshop Note 342 and would add that I had also had the same thoughts about the anonymity of the RV8 last year and purchased some stick-on letters from Halfords to do the job. The quality is very good although the decimal point between the 3 and the 9 needs a bit of Araldite due to its small size. The other numbers and letters are fixed with sticky foam. Halfords’ price is £2 per letter or 3 for £5 – hence the RV8 and 3.9 cost me £10. The decimal point comes in a pack of four and costs the same as a number or letter. Photograph above shows the finished result.” 060411
