In the months before the MG Plant at Abingdon closed, the late Geoff Allen (Foreman in the Rectifications Department for 27 years and former V8 Register Historian) became concerned that the MG Production Records for the MGBGTV8 model might be thrown away in a skip and lost, so he took on the task of making a handwritten copy of the records. Over a number of weeks he spent his morning and afternoon tea breaks and his lunchtimes working to make the copy of the MGBGTV8 production records. Later he transferred the records to a database system on his computer. The production records for the MGBGTV8 above have been obtained as screengrabs from a copy of Geoff Allen's records. As those records were a handmade copy there is the possibility of mistakes in the transcribing when Geoff was labouring through making his copy of the records, but so far members who have received a copy of the production record for an MGBGTV8 have not reported any signs of transcribing issues.

Footnote: the copy of the MG Factory production records include the key numbers for the door lock and steering lock, but for security reasons these are not included in the information released above in the screengrabs straight from Geoff Allen's copy of the records.
